Appendix F:
Financial Aid Consortium
For Title IV Federal Financial Aid Programs

1. INTRODUCTION

A consortium agreement is a written, formal agreement between two institutions eligible to participate in the Title IV federal financial aid programs. These programs include, but are not limited to Federal Pell Grants, SEOG, Work Study, Perkins Loan, and Direct Loans. This agreement also includes all relevant state aid programs. The consortium agreement allows a student to enroll in courses at the "host" institution while working toward a degree from the "home" institution. For purposes of this agreement, Lower Columbia College will serve as the "home" institution until such time the student is admitted to Washington State University. Beginning with the first semester of admittance, Washington State University becomes the "home" institution. By signing this agreement, Lower Columbia College and Washington State University are stating that they have a clear understanding of their rights and responsibilities under the agreement.

2. APPLICATION, VERIFICATION, AND RECORD RETENTION

Students must apply to the "home" institution for financial aid. The home institution will be responsible for compliance with all applicable aid regulations and retention of financial aid records. The Financial Aid Office at the home institution will be responsible for insuring that students do not apply for and receive financial aid at the host institution during any term for which they receive aid.

3. AWARDING

Awarding and notification of financial aid will be the responsibility of the Financial Aid Office at the home institution. The host institution will be responsible for informing the home institution of the number of credits and cost of tuition and books for each student in the program for each quarter. The home institution will determine the enrollment status and cost of attendance based upon the total enrolled hours at both institutions. The home institution has the right to cancel any funds for which the student is not eligible and may adjust aid funds according to changes in enrollment status and/or cancellation of enrollment by the student.

4. DISBURSEMENT OF FUNDS

Disbursement of aid will be the responsibility of the home institution.

5. SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS

Satisfactory academic progress will be monitored by the home institution according to that institution's policies and procedures. The host institution will be responsible for registering students and posting student grades by the deadlines established by the home institution.

6. RETURN OF TITLE IV FUNDS

Students must adhere to each institution's published tuition payment deadlines. The respective program coordinators will be responsible for reporting the dates of any official withdrawals to the other institution. In the event of an unofficial withdrawal, the program coordinators will determine the last date of attendance from each of the student's instructors and report that date to the other institution. Each institution in which the student is enrolled will be responsible for calculating and applying a refund of tuition, fees or other charges according to institutional refund policies. The home

1 institution will be responsible for calculating repayments owed by the school and/or the student
2 under the applicable Return of Title IV funds regulations.

3

4 7. ENROLLMENT REPORTING

5 Enrollment reporting to the Clearinghouse and other agencies will be the responsibility of each
6 institution and will not reflect the combined credits from both institutions.
