A HISTORY OF COMMUNITY SUPPORT IS THE KEY TO LCC'S SUCCESS

In October 1934, when 53 college students gathered in three borrowed classrooms at R.A. Long High School, Lower Columbia College was born.

The college began through community fundraising efforts spearheaded by business and civic leaders including M. A. Wertheimer, President of Longview Fibre; Daily News publisher John McClelland; Mrs. Lydia Korten; Mrs. Gay Quoidbach; and many others. Even in the midst of the depression-era, with 25% unemployment, there was across-the-board support for the creation of a college and excitement about the educational opportunities it would provide.

In 1934, some of those original LCC students had trouble making the required $50 quarterly tuition payment and several local merchants and the Long-Bell mill stepped up to help with scholarship support. Today, our students still face significant obstacles in pursuing a college education – and $50 isn't likely to cover the cost of one text book. The good news is that our community is still right here beside them. Our students bring their talents, intellect, and determination, and our scholarship donors create the opportunities for their success.

We are deeply grateful to all of our donors here this evening. You are the foundation that helps these promising LCC students realize their potential. Your generosity supports the college mission boldly envisioned and courageously launched nearly 80 years ago. Thank you for making a remarkable learning experience available to new generations of students every year.

This year, we are pleased to welcome seven new scholarships to the LCC Foundation Scholarship Program:

*Betty Johnson Athletic Scholarship
Cascade Natural Gas Scholarship
David A. Leith Memorial Scholarship
Helen Elizabeth Anderson Memorial Nursing Scholarship
Kim O'Neill RN Nursing Scholarship
Mary Stone Scholarship
