CELEBRATING STUDENT SUCCESS AND BUILDING HEALTHY FUTURES

What a year this is to celebrate student success at Lower Columbia College!

Last month, we celebrated the dedication and grand opening of the new Health and Science Building. We also received national recognition by the White House and the College Spark Foundation. Lower Columbia College has earned the distinction of "national leader college" for our efforts in student success, retention and completion.

This year, we are especially proud to celebrate Lower Columbia College's 80th birthday, its 60th year of excellence in nursing education, and 50 years of educating parents and children through the HeadStart Program.

We are so proud of this amazing college – our faculty, staff, and students are truly exceptional!

What is most significant about these achievements are that they occurred during one of the worst recessions to ever hit higher education and the community since the Great Depression. Ironically, it was during the Great Depression when the community came together to create Lower Columbia College – to serve the community and to lift its citizens up from poverty and hardship through higher education.

We are so proud of this amazing community – our friends, neighbors, and partners are also truly exceptional!

We will continue to build on this strong foundation of community support and we thank those who have invested so heavily and provided opportunities for so many students to achieve their higher education goals. We are so grateful.

For the students who will benefit from the gift of a scholarship, please remember this moment when someone in your community invested in you and supported you in your life's journey. There is no more precious gift than one given in the service of another. Perhaps someday, you'll be able to do the same and invest in someone else's bright future.

Here's to another 80 years, Lower Columbia College!
