Increasing College Graduation Rates Benefits Everyone

Communities with higher educational attainment rates tend to fare better across a variety of indicators. Education levels correlate with literacy, unemployment and household income statistics, for example. Educational attainment is also strongly associated with health outcomes, including quality of life.

Lower Columbia College (LCC) has been providing certificate and associate degree options to the community since 1934. In 2019, we rolled out our first Bachelor of Applied Science (BAS) degree, in teacher education. We added a second BAS degree in organizational leadership and technical management in 2022. These local options are sorely needed given that our bachelor's degree attainment rate is about half the state average. Many additional undergraduate and graduate degree options are available through our partners at the Lower Columbia Regional University Center, located on the LCC campus.

I invite you to help spread the word about these exciting new opportunities at LCC. Together, we can do great things.

Christopher C. Bailey

President, Lower Columbia College

Opportunity Can't Wait

Kendra Sprague

Jenny Isaacson

We believe in the power of opportunity. Established in 1934, Lower Columbia College was founded during the Great Depression by community leaders seeking a better future for high school graduates. Today, LCC is a comprehensive community and technical college offering 70+ programs and serving over 4,000 students each year. Recognized for its excellence in nursing, workforce training, academic preparation, and athletics, the College serves as the educational center for the entire Lower Columbia region. Lower Columbia College is both a community anchor and an inviting beacon for those seeking new opportunities. Educational opportunities are made possible because of supporters like you investing in our community and our students. Because of you, lives in our community are forever changed.

LCC Foundation Names the Wollenberg Foundation as Benefactor of the Year

Benefactor honorees have a history of providing financial support to the foundation, and/or significant volunteer service to the college. Contributions from honorees have substantially impacted college programs, students, and the community.

"It is with great pleasure that we honor The Wollenberg Foundation as this year's LCC Benefactor of the Year," said Jenny Isaacson, LCC Foundation Board Chair. "Members of the Wollenberg family have been among the most influential business leaders and philanthropists in our community. The family continues to impact our community and college through their generosity," she added.

For over 30 years, The Wollenberg Foundation has supported LCC with gifts totaling nearly $950,000. The Wollenberg family is passionate about early childhood education and helped establish LCC's Head Start Program. Other LCC support includes the library, scholarships, and unrestricted giving. Due to their generous support of LCC's Rose Center for the Arts project, the family was honored by the naming of the Wollenberg Auditorium.

"LCC is fortunate to have supporters like the Wollenbergs whose gifts will continue to benefit students and our community for years to come," said Kendra Sprague, LCC Vice President of Foundation, Human Resources, & Legal Affairs.

Like the beginnings of Longview itself, the Wollenberg family is rooted in timber. Their storied history in the community began in 1926, when Harry L. Wollenberg was recruited by longtime friend, Monroe Wertheimer, to help establish Longview Fibre Company.

Harry was the first of three generations to serve as the company's CEO. Harry's son, Richard P. (Dick) Wollenberg, was CEO from 1978-2001 and passed in 2014 at the age of 98. His wife, Leone (Lee) Wollenberg, served on the LCC Foundation Board from 1981 to 1993, including service as president. She died in 2006. Their son, Rick Wollenberg, served as CEO from 2001 until 2007, when the company was sold. He and his wife, Barbara, are carrying the family's community legacy forward today. They credit Rick and David's father and grandfather for passing on the value of community. The family's foundation is headed by Rick, his brother David Wollenberg, and cousin Chris Wollenberg.

"The Wollenberg Foundation is a charitable foundation established by Harry Wollenberg in 1952. A majority of our funding is for education, including early childhood education such as the Head Start program which is essential for lifelong success," shares Rick Wollenberg. "It is a real privilege to help support all generations of community members by providing educational opportunities for all," he added.

"We appreciate this opportunity to acknowledge and celebrate the extraordinary support of the Wollenberg family, and for their continued generosity in our community," said LCC President Chris Bailey.

Marc Silva Appointed to LCC Board of Trustees

Lower Columbia College (LCC) is pleased to announce the appointment of Marc Silva to the LCC Board of Trustees. LCC Trustees are appointed by the governor.

Marc is the branch manager of the 30th Avenue Branch of Red Canoe Credit Union in Longview. He started his banking career as a teller with Washington Mutual, later absorbed by Chase Bank. Marc's next destination was Wauna Credit Union, where he worked as a loan officer until his promotion to branch manager in Warrenton. Prior to joining Red Canoe, Marc served as the AVP and branch manager at Columbia Bank in Longview.

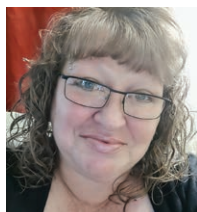

Marc and wife Kristin Silva initially moved to Longview when Kristin accepted a teaching position at St. Rose School. Although the original intent was to stay for a relatively short time, the couple fell in love with the community and have made Longview their home for the last 15 years. Marc and Kristin have two children, Lauren and Mary Lou.

Marc holds an Associate of Arts degree from Portland Community College, and a Bachelor of Science in Social Science from Portland State University. He is a member of the Rotary Club of Longview in addition to serving as a trustee for LCC.

Four LCC Students Named to 2022 All-Washington Academic Team

Lower Columbia College students Vanessa Davis, Christina Lomasney, Yuuki Matsunari, and Corenna Messinger were named to the 2022 All-Washington Academic Team.

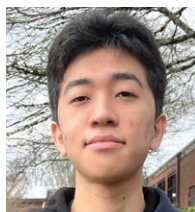

The program is a showcase for Washington's community and technical colleges because it honors the academic high achievers—students who have demonstrated a commitment to success in the classroom and in the communities where they live. This recognition demonstrates the state's commitment to scholarship and community service on the part of those attending the state's public community and technical colleges.

Vanessa Davis, who is in her 50s, is a former addict who has been clean and sober for 23 years. She received a high school diploma from LCC in spring 2020, and is now pursuing a degree in Chemical Dependency Studies. Vanessa, who is Cherokee, is passionate about helping fellow Natives who are struggling with addiction issues. She would like to work for the Cowlitz Indian Tribe, and eventually return to LCC to earn an applied bachelor's degree.

Becoming a mother sparked Christina Lomasney's passion to promote the mission of healthcare as a basic need, support personal and community health, relieve pain and suffering, and treat each person in a caring way. Christina began her career in healthcare as a CNA 14 years ago, and is now a medical assistant in oncology and nursing student. She will continue on to Washington State University for a Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) degree.

Yuuki Matsunari is an international student from Wako, Japan, Longview's sister city. Yuuki is studying computer science at Lower Columbia College, with a particular focus on Artificial Intelligence (AI). He plans to transfer to a four year university in Washington to complete a degree in software engineering. His career goal is to use his AI skills to create tools that help people. Yuuki would like to encourage other students from sister city Wako to study in the U.S.

Corenna Messinger found her passion in obstetrics while completing her Medical Assisting practicum. Now headed toward her career goal of becoming a Registered Nurse, she hopes to draw on her background as a massage therapist to provide a safe and nurturing environment for expectant mothers. When she's not working, Corenna spends as much time with her children as she can. After finishing her prerequisites at LCC, Corenna hopes to attend the nursing program at Peninsula College.

State team members are nominated by their community college presidents. Each All-Washington Academic Team member typically receives a scholarship funded by program sponsors (funding in any given year is determined by program sponsors). The state's public baccalaureate institutions and several private colleges also offer scholarships to award-winning transfer students.

Vidal Villagran 2023 Transforming Lives Award Winner

Ever since I was a young boy in my home country, I have been passionate about auto mechanics. After emigrating to the United States, I found it necessary to work constantly to provide for my family. Instead of pursuing my dreams, I continued to work as a roofer until I had an unfortunate on-the-job accident.

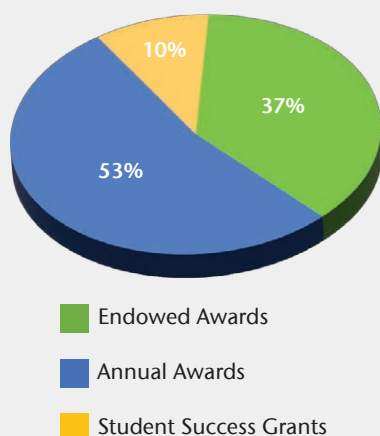

After my injury, Labor and Industries provided me with a list of options to pursue training while I recovered. I chose LCC because of their automotive technology program. Thanks to LCC's I-BEST program, I was able to pursue my passion of mechanics while also studying English, my second language. Help from staff at LCC and scholarships from the Lower Columbia College Foundation have helped me get to where I am today.

I believe becoming a mechanic will change my life for the better, and provide a much more stable future for my family. It is something I am passionate about. Unlike roofing, automotive repair is not contingent on the weather. The hours are more predictable, and the work is less physically demanding than roofing. I believe electric cars are the future, and hope to eventually start my own electric vehicle repair and service business.

My experience at LCC has been incredible. There are a lot of people available to help and encourage you. There are challenges, of course, but there are also doors. If your native language is Spanish, it may seem like a longshot to even go to college because of the language barrier. Help is available, you just need to ask.

Student Support

2021-22 Total Student Support $551,768

Students are awarded more than $550,000 each year through the LCC Foundation. In 2021-22, the Foundation provided $1.06 million in support to the college. Nearly 52% was direct student support.

Because of you, our generous donors, each year the LCC Foundation offers more than 250 scholarships to hard-working students. Scholarship award categories include annual and athletic scholarships, endowed scholarships, and emergency Student Success Fund grants for students in need.

A special thanks to our community partner, The Daily News, for their continued support through the Students in Need campaign. Last year, "Students in Need" raised over $30,000 for the Student Success Fund.

Student Success Fund

The Student Success Fund provides emergency grants to LCC students who are most at-risk for abandoning higher education goals due to financial hardships. It provides vital support to encourage students to complete their degrees.

Since 2012, the fund has provided nearly $600,000 in emergency grants to nearly 1,000 students. The average award is approximately $600. For many students, this grant means the difference between completing their education or dropping out.

The Student Success Fund works! Completion rates for LCC's Student Success Fund recipients are nearly double that of all LCC students.

The Student Success Fund helps students with:

- Tuition expenses not covered by financial aid, scholarships, or other grants
- Emergency childcare expenses
- Emergency transportation
- Emergency housing and heating costs
- Tools and other school supplies
- Testing fees

2021-22 A Return to Normalcy

The Lower Columbia College athletics program rebounded from the pandemic to do what they do best — win in competition and succeed in the classroom. After three years dealing with schedule disruptions, COVID-19 protocols, and all of the stress that comes with it, the Red Devils finally settled back into a more normal existence.

The six athletic teams at LCC went a combined 127-61-1 for a winning percentage of 68%. In the classroom, the teams had a combined GPA of 3.18 including 63 quarters where an LCC student/athlete earned a 4.0 GPA.

The biggest thrill of the 2021-22 season was Lower Columbia winning the NWAC women's basketball championship for the first time in school history. It came down to a final shot at the buzzer in overtime to cap off an incredible 26-1 season for Lucas Myers' Red Devils.

The Lower Columbia men's basketball team won a second straight West Region championship and advanced to the NWAC Sweet 16 before being upset at the NWAC Championships in Everett. Head coach Mickey Polis put together an exciting team that had fans coming out of their seats on several occasions.

The Lower Columbia women's soccer team continued to make strides under the leadership of head coach, Joe Chicks. The Devils were 8-7-1 and just missed a playoff berth out of the ultra-tough West Region.

The LCC volleyball team, led by Carri Smith, also competed in a talented division and ended with a record of 12-10. The Devils were led by All-American libero Emma Nelson, and the team advanced to the NWAC Sweet 16.

The Red Devil softball team had another solid season under the longest tenured head coach at LCC, Traci Fuller. The Devils were led by slugger Katelyn McGough who hit 22 homers on the way to a 7th place finish in the NWAC.

The Lower Columbia baseball team's quest for a fourth straight NWAC championship fell just three runs short. Kurt Lupinski took over as the new head coach and he had the Devils in contention. After two wins at the NWAC tournament at Story Field, the Devils dropped a one-run game to eventual champ, Linn Benton, and then ended up 4th after a 3-1 loss to runner-up Mt. Hood.

The Shot You Dream Of

Thousands of children play out the scenario in their driveway. With a basketball in their hands they count down to the final shot that wins the game! They play it out again and this time the shot wins the championship!

Not many of those kids get to live the dream. But, Chinedu Nnadi of Lower Columbia did. With time counting down in overtime at the 2021-22 NWAC championship game, Nnadi got the pass at the top of the key and let it fly. As the ball sailed towards the bucket, the horn sounded. And it was nothing but net! Nnadi was mobbed by her teammates as LCC had won its first-ever women's title with a 76-75 victory over Peninsula College.

The winning assist came from teammate Michaela Harris, who earlier sent the game into overtime with a heroic three-pointer herself. Harris' long three with nine seconds left in regulation set the stage for Nnadi's championship winner.

Both Nnadi and Harris had been through a lot in three years at Lower Columbia. They both were granted an extra year of eligibility because of the pandemic. There were certainly plenty of highs and lows during their time in Longview, but you can't get much higher than what happened on Sunday, March 27th in Everett.

Nnadi and Harris were best friends at LCC and they were known as outstanding student-athletes who danced their way to success. Literally. It was a common sight at the Stoller Athletic Center to see them working on their latest dance moves.

Both moved on to the next level, Nnadi at Point University in Georgia and Harris at Art University in California. But, it will be hard to top what they accomplished as Red Devils.

Come to Longview and attend Lower Columbia College — where dreams come true!

Chinedu Nnadi

Mark McCrady Named 2022 LCC Alumnus of the Year

Mark graduated Kelso High School in 1974 and began attending LCC in the fall. Without enough money to attend a second year, he went to work for Longview Fibre working as a pipefitter where his supervisor encouraged him to continue his education. Fibre's tuition reimbursement program provided the catalyst to return to school. With perseverance, Mark earned his first LCC degree in Industrial Maintenance in 1983 and graduated side-by-side with his wife, Theresa, who simultaneously earned her Nursing degree from LCC. When LCC launched the Multi-Craft Technology program, Mark re-enrolled and earned his second LCC degree in 1989.

Mark credits his career and public service accomplishments to the educational foundation he received from LCC.

Mark and Theresa (Schuh) have two children and three grandchildren. Mark and his family remain actively involved at LCC. The McCrady family's educational legacy at LCC continues with nine members of the McCrady family obtaining a total of 12 associate degrees since the 1970s.

Mark's dedication to public and community service is demonstrated through his service on several local boards, as Longview City Councilman and Mayor, and Cowlitz PUD Commissioner. In 2007, his family combined efforts with three nursing program alumni who wanted to establish an endowed scholarship for nursing students through a matching funds gift. LCC's Nursing faculty also joined the efforts to continue building the scholarship principal. That fund provides annual scholarship awards educating generations of nurses into perpetuity. Mark shares, "To me, the lesson is a simple one. If we all do a little, big things happen." In 2015, Mark collaborated with his three brothers to honor and memorialize their parents, Roy and Colleen McCrady, through an LCC scholarship endowment and named the nursing lounge in their honor. Mark's community and LCC pride motivate him to help others become the best people they can be.

When asked to share LCC's impact on his life and others, Mark humbly responded, "Thanks to LCC's flexibility and dedicated faculty, students can attend school while working, which results in more people being able to prepare for and advance their careers."

"I can't think of a better example of someone who used one's gifts to benefit an entire community. Mark's level of service to the Lower Columbia region is unparalleled. We are honored to present Mark McCrady as LCC's 2022 Alumnus of the Year."

Nicole Page Blazes Pipe Welding Trail

After working at a jewelry store repairing watches for several years, a chance encounter with a former middle school counselor led Nicole Page to enroll in LCC's welding program at age 29 (just shy of LCC's average age of 30). She graduated in 2021, and is now working toward becoming a Certified Pipe Welder with United Association (UA) Local 26.

Nicole's current project with employer JH Kelly involves a remodel of the Longview PeaceHealth facility's eighth floor. Once that's complete, she'll be moving into the fabrication shop, which is specifically for pipe workers. In addition to welding, Nicole notes that "my job involves a lot of blueprint reading. Although I'm just starting my second year on the job, I'm finding that the classes I took at LCC prepared me well. I couldn't be more thankful for the conversations I had with instructors at LCC about their experiences out in the field."

Because Nicole received a lot of scholarship support while she was at LCC, she had the financial freedom to apply herself to her studies. She made the dean's list once, and was on the president's list every other quarter while completing her degree. She even had an opportunity to express her creative side with some welding art.

Although Nicole had never welded before starting her program at LCC, in high school she split her time between woodshop and the CAD (Computer Aided Design) lab. Although it was a heavy load for a high school student to carry, she rose to the challenge. Nicole enjoys spreading the word about the opportunities working in the trades can offer to aspiring students, and has spoken to middle school and college students about her experiences. She also recently shared her story at a career fair focused on the trades.

In spite of having graduated, Nicole is very excited about the planned new Vocational Building at LCC. "The new space will allow for bigger and grander tools and will be beneficial for preparing people to work in the field. I would love to see specialized metal stations (for example), and more simulations for things like rigging and crane operating," she said, which would further tie the program to the needs of industry. "Outside of the welding lab, Theory and Fabrication was my favorite class (at LCC), which was held in a classroom. It would be much better in a lab space," she added.

Access to LCC's high quality welding program was the key to Nicole finding her niche in what she describes as a life changing career. "I can hold my own, but can really do so with the strong foundation I was given here. I've proven that I'm not just a minority (as a woman working in the trades). I am happy to help blaze that trail. I don't have the right words to express how thankful I am for this program," she said.

Driving Innovation

The Center for Vocational & Transitional Studies

LCC will create a new 46,000 square foot facility to replace three vocational and science buildings, designed and constructed more than 60 years ago. The new building will bring together the College's welding, machining, and manufacturing programs and provide modernized facilities for information technology and computer science programs.

The center will also house the college's Transitional Studies programs, soon to be renamed College and Career Preparation. This cluster of programs includes high school completion, math and English preparation for entry into college level studies, and English language learning.

Students will go directly from college to career, filling the high-demand and living wage jobs of today and tomorrow.

LCC is working to secure capital funding for the new building through the state. To complete the facility, the College is seeking community support to bring in new, state-of-the-art equipment. Cutting-edge tools and equipment will ensure the new vocational center becomes a world-class skills center serving local high schools, industry, and unions.

LCC Foundation Endowments

Endowments are gifts that provide perpetual support for scholarships or other programs according to the intent of the donor. Endowments may be named in honor of a loved one or to create a family legacy. The minimum required to establish an endowment is $25,000, which may be pledged over time. The funds are invested to provide a permanent source of income, while the principal is always protected. Our current endowments are listed on the LCC website on the Reports and Publications page:

Thank you, 2021-22 Donors

Your generosity provides scholarships for students, supports instructional programs, and provides needed technology and equipment for our campus. Together, we create a brighter future for our students and strengthen the quality of life throughout our community. Listed below are gifts received during the fiscal year July 1, 2021 to June 30, 2022. Please contact the LCC Foundation at 360.442.2130 for listing changes or for additional information. Bold indicates current LCC Trustees or LCCF Board members.
