Lower Columbia College Learning Commons
Public Use Computer Practice

At the Lower Columbia College Learning Commons, the public use computer is provided for use through federal and state funds. Due to this, illegal activities will not be permitted such as making multiple copies of materials covered by copyright and/or the viewing, distributing, or downloading of child pornography.

We respect community members' right to privacy while using this computer; however, we ask that users remain aware that this computer is in a shared environment and should be used in a manner sensitive to the community. We ask that users restrict their time to 30 minute sessions.

We also understand that community members may need to print personal and/or sensitive materials from this computer, therefore all materials will be provided for pick-up at the Circulation Desk with a $.10 per page fee.