

Northwest Voices Presents:

Author Nena Baker

Tuesday, Oct. 20, 7 p.m.: Reading and discussion @ the Longview Public Library

Tuesday, Oct. 20, 3–4:30 p.m.:

Writer's Workshop: "Writing to Change the World" at LCC, in Physical Science 104.

Nena Baker wrote The Body Toxic after more than 20 years in journalism. It's her first book, and she's at work on another. A graduate of Lewis and Clark College, she worked at GQ, then TV Guide, before moving to the national financial desk of United Press International. She returned to Portland in 1991, joining the staff of The Oregonian and winning national and regional awards for her investigative reporting. She moved to The Arizona Republic in 1999, then left to concentrate on book writing. She lives in Portland.

All events are free and open to the public.

This event is co-sponsored by the Willipa Hills Audubon Society. Northwest Voices is funded by the Longview Public Library and Lower Columbia College, Friends of the LPL, LPL Foundation, LCC Foundation, and the Associated Students of LCC.

Lower Columbia College is an Equal Opportunity Institution.
