LCC Strong!

2021

"I have received scholarships from various donors throughout my time at LCC. I am a single parent with no living family. I cannot say for sure how my academic success may have turned out without the generous contributions I have received, but there is a good chance I may have been forced to put my education on hold a couple of times over the last two years. For example, when my son was diagnosed with type 1 diabetes and ended up in the children's hospital in ICU last summer right at the beginning of finals week, had I not been able to afford to drive back and forth from Portland, I would have had to drop out."

~Arwyn

"Before starting school here at Lower Columbia College, I did not think myself capable of much. After my time here as a student, I have begun to understand that I am capable of far more than I thought. I have learned how to accept failure without quitting. I have also learned that I have more worth than I thought and that I can persevere."

~Sylvia

"After the pandemic hit, I lost my job. We weren't sure how we were going to pay for school anymore. I was able to obtain a loan and continue schooling but it is far from ideal... Every quarter has been incredibly stressful trying to pay for my books and take as little of a loan out as possible so that we are not in debt for years to come. A scholarship has meant the world to someone like me who has taken on school later in life and who is just trying to do right for her family."

~Hannah

"There is a quote that says 'Being afraid of failure means you never will truly succeed.' After running two vintage clothing stores in downtown Portland, the economy took a turn. After 15 years, I had to shut the businesses down and figure out a new path. I moved up to Longview and began working in my mom's kid resale store. I quickly learned that I had a way of communicating ideas and concepts to children. Realizing that I was good at working with children gave me the drive to apply for the early education program at LCC... I am grateful for the program at LCC because it has given me a clear path to follow to be able to do my dream job; which is to educate children."

~Jesse

"As a future teacher I hope that I can be able to bring some spark into the classroom and be a friend and confidant to my students. Teachers are so important in today's society because they are teaching the next generation that will change the world. They can be the first to spark interest in a child's mind that will open a world of possibilities and budding dreams. Good teachers can instill a good work ethic through positive reinforcement and create a safe area to become confident in sharing one's ideas. The thought of creating that dream fills me with so much excitement, I can't wait to start building that future!"

~Lydia

"When the pandemic first started, I got laid off and my life completely changed. It wasn't until that moment that I realized I had no plan for the future and this job wasn't going to turn into a career. Thankfully with a push from family and friends I researched a bunch of different options I could pursue until I stumbled across welding at LCC... I always dreamed I would be able to find something I enjoy doing and then turn that joy into a career. I am now three quarters into the program and find new things I love about welding every day. I am so happy I decided to take a chance on something I've never done before because it was the best decision I ever made."

~Jordan
