

2013 William Vest Memorial Lecture

Courting Trouble?

The Invention and Transformation of 'Traditional'
Marriage and Male-Female
Relationships

Author Stephanie Coontz

Thursday, May 9, 7 p.m.

Wollenberg Auditorium, Rose Center for the Arts

This community lecture is provided at no charge by Lower Columbia College

Sponsored by the Associated Students of Lower Columbia College, the LCC Faculty Professional Development Fund and an LCC Exceptional Faculty Grant

Award-winning author Stephanie Coontz teaches history and family studies at The Evergreen State College in Olympia and is Director of Research and Public Education for the Council on Contemporary Families. A featured speaker on gender equality on NPR, the Today Show, and before Congress, her message is timely as Americans struggle with questions surrounding equity in the workforce and the 'traditional' definition of marriage.

Professor Coontz will be available following the lecture to sign copies of her books the evening of the lecture.

"...we must stop seeing work-family policy as a women's issue and start seeing it as a human rights issue that affects parents, children, partners, singles and elders."

Stephanie Coontz

To arrange accommodation for a disability, call 360.442.2341 or email sssreception@lowercolumbia.edu

It is the policy of Lower Columbia College to provide equal opportunity in education and employment regardless of sex, race, color, marital status, creed, age, national origin, sexual orientation, veteran status, religious preference, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability.

More information is available at lowercolumbia.edu/lectures